You are able to choose between the whole site or just people who are your friends or are members of the same communities as you. You can choose between seeing a summary or a full description of activities. You can see who has created blog posts, commented on them, uploaded files etc.

What else to consider?

If you don't want others to be able to see updates on certain items you create you can use your privacy options to limit who can see them.

This page is useful to see what is going on around the site but you shouldn't really worry about accessing it regularly.
